

NPR turns to McTevia to answer questions about an auto bailout

Is What's Good For Automakers Good For Us?

Weekend Edition Saturday, November 22, 2008 · At a hearing this week, Congress essentially told U.S. automakers "not so fast." House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Majority Leader Harry Reid instructed the automakers to draft a plan of how they would use any financial bailout, before coming back to congress next month. Host Scott Simon talked to Dave Sedgwick, editor for Automotive News, and Jim McTevia, a bankruptcy and restructuring expert, about the pros and cons of an auto bailout.

For the complete audio of the interview visit:

<http://www.npr.org/templates/story/story.php?storyId=97350136>